THE ARTEMIS PROJECT

CODE OF HONOR

Mission:

The Artemis Project is a four-week summer program that introduces rising 9th grade girls to Computer Science. The mission of Artemis is to provide its students with a safe, supportive and resourceful environment. To achieve this objective, Artemis offers:

1. Female mentors and role models;
2. A friendly environment where participants can exercise their skills and creativity;
3. A context in which participants are exposed to the Computer Science field without the interference of societal discrimination and/or prejudices based on gender.

It is our hope that these tools will help cultivate the enthusiasm, confidence and imagination needed to be a future female leader in Computer Science.

As a participant of Artemis ...

... I will display the utmost courtesy for the Artemis coordinators, my peer Artemis participants, the speakers, and all members of Boston University.

... I will follow the instructions of the Artemis coordinators during the hours that I participate in Artemis activities, whether on or off campus.

... I will respect the privacy and personal matters of the Artemis coordinators, my peer Artemis participants, the speakers, and all other people involved in the Artemis Project and/or Boston University.

... I will be present during all of the activities scheduled during the four weeks of the program unless a medical or family emergency occurs, and I provide documentation that supports my absence. Failure to regularly attend Artemis can result in suspension from the program.

... I will make every effort to be on time each day. If, for some unavoidable reason, I will be late, my parent or guardian will notify the coordinators by email (artemis@bu.edu) or phone (617-528-0985) as early as possible.

... I will only visit websites that are pertinent to the Artemis curriculum, and will respect the discretion of the Artemis coordinators as to which sites are appropriate.

... I will refrain from using my cell phone during the program except during a break or in case of an emergency.

... I will take advantage of the opportunity that is offered to me by the Artemis Project with effort and enthusiasm.
